GRANITE CITY — With each day closer to the Persian Gulf, families of American servicemen have little to do but say a prayer that their loved ones won't be casualties of the Iraqi war.

"I hate it. I don't really get hurt, but I'd just as soon they ... get it over with so they can come home," said a Mitchell mother, Myrtle Shoffner. Her son is a sergeant, Thomas Shoffner, who is in the thick of things in the Middle East.

Shoffner has not heard from her son, although his wife, Linda, and Fort Campbell, heard from him in the days before the war began Wednesday.

"She said he is on the front line," his mother said.

North St. Louisian Tony Petruso has revived a former tradition in an effort to honor Americans stationed in the Persian Gulf.

The tradition, dating from World War I, is displaying a blue "service flag" to show support for loved ones on active military deployment. Petruso has come up with a design of his own for a service flag to be displayed during Operation

Sheriff expects no problems

Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich said he doesn't anticipate terrorist threats at the courthouse or at other county buildings.

"We've got our normal security people there and we haven't been any problems," Churchich said Friday.

The outbreak of war Wednesday fueled fears that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein would carry out his threats of terrorism throughout the world.

The only change Churchich noted because of the conflict was increased patrols around the Temple of Israel in Godfrey.

Churchich said there have been no incidents there to prompt the patrols.

Break forces sewage into storm line

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A sewer line break in the 3000 block of Nokomis Road has forced the street department to take drastic measures.

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield said the sewer line between Leonard Avenue and St. Clair Avenue has been broken for about two weeks. Warfield said street department workers have laid hose down the alley to a manhole, and workers have had to pump the sewer line every day, sometimes twice a day.

But Street Department worker Clayton "Jug" Harrison, who will run against Warfield in the April election, said Wednesday that the raw sewage is in fact being pumped into a stormwater line near Leonard.

"Why does he (Warfield) pump it into the stormwater line, 400 feet away?" Harrison asked, "when he could run a pipe to St. Clair (Avenue) and put it back into the sewer system?"

Harrison continued, "I live over there; I don't like them pumping sewage into my ditch ... You remember when that little girl (Katie Leara) fell into the ditch last week? It was probably full of sewage then."

Warfield responded by saying that it is nothing new for the city to have to pump sewage into the stormwater system, but claimed that, according to the map in his office, the line is a part of the city's combination sanitary/sewage/stormwater system.

Foreman Glen Romine also said the sewage is being pumped into a combination line.

School officials rely on cuts

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The first two phases of a three-year cost-cutting plan better work for District 9, because if the plan fails we would hurt education in the schools, says Superintendent Gilbert Walmsley.

"Phase three I'm not even going to talk about it, because it is such a dramatic changing of structure in this school district that we would no longer resemble ourselves, and I for one would not like the type of educational system I think that would make us become," Walmsley said.

Walmsley said the plan, which was announced to District 9 employees last week, the program is designed to save the district $1,081,320 per year, starting in the 1991-92 school year.

Generally, the plan reduces costs by means of staff attrition, savings on purchases, and savings on capital outlay.

Savings by means of teaching staff attrition are expected to total $575,440 a year.

At the elementary level, retirement of three classroom teachers and one resource teacher, and the reassignment of a homebound teacher to a classroom, as well as redistributing grant money into salaries, will produce savings of $273,810 in salaries and insurance.

Savings of $301,630 are expected by eliminating similar policies at the secondary (junior high, high school) level. Retirement of five teachers — one to be replaced by an entry-level employee — retirement of

Witnesses tell horror tale of brutality to young boy

By David Migno

Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — Several witness during the first week of Kimberly Novy's capital murder trial characterized her as "emotionless" and "calm," saying that she was asked for a cigarette while paramedics struggled to revive her dying stepson.

Neighbors told how 4-year-old James Novy, wearing a cast on one broken leg, was forced to crawl to the front door while his parents walked ahead.

Paramedics with the O'Fallon-Shiloh Ambulance Corps said Novy showed no emotion as they tried to resuscitate him Dec. 1, 1989.

Novy, of Shiloh, called police when the boy allegedly fell while walking to the bathroom. He had been scolded and spanked for wetting his pants at the kitchen table, Novy said.

Paramedics testified they found the boy lying on the sofa, his mouth full of vomit, and with no pulse. He died about an hour and a half later at a bench in Forest Grove Hospital.

Novy is accused of first-degree murder stemming from long-term physical abuse that eventually led to his death.

Novy faces the death penalty if convicted, also is charged with aggravated battery to a child and cruelty to children.

Her husband, Keith Novy, 27, was convicted of three counts Oct. 1 following a bench trial and faces the death penalty.

He is to be sentenced by St. Clair County Criminal Judge James Donovan after Novy's wife's trial is completed.

At the start of the trial, defense attorney Brian Trentman argued that Novy should be held accountable for James' death.

Trentman argued that since Novy came from an environment that made her subservient to her husband's, and most men's, demands, her confession to police was coerced.

The defense also is expected to present evidence to show Kim Novy was completely dependent on Keith Novy and that she could not have been away from abuse of the children. Trentman alleged there had been physical abuse of her, as well.

Assistant State's Attorney Dennis Paschall contends that Kim Novy should at least be held accountable for James' death.

Trentman said he expected to call about a dozen witnesses for the defense's trial, expected to last about another week.

Air Force Dr. Robert Paschall testified Kimberly Novy's account of the crime was injured in the day he died "did not coincide" with multiple bruises found throughout the child's body.

Most of the bruises, Paschall said, were "several days to a week or two old," including "battle scar" bruises behind the boy's ears and "raccoon eyes" bruising around his eyes.

Dr. Harry Parks, a pathologist who performed the autopsy on James, testified bruises on the child's legs, arms, face and head were consistent with abuse.

One large bruise under James' scalp probably was caused by grabbing the child by the hair and pulling him off balance, James Novy, who at a year old underwent emergency surgery to correct a congenital heart defect, died pale and "markedly" different from his "normal" self, Parks said.

"He was a very frail little child who had very little language," said Mary Lu Arterburn-Haas, a special education preschool teacher who taught James at Bellville North in 1988.

"He grunted a lot and pointed to things, and had no noticeable language," Arterburn-Haas said.

Frequently, the boy would come to school in a soiled diaper and would "stick whole cookies in his mouth at time" during snacktime, she said.

James Novy was removed from the school April 4, 1989, a day after Arterburn-Haas and other school officials noticed welt marks on the boy's buttocks and reported the suspected abuse to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Employees at the St. Clair County courthouse testified James "didn't know what was going on around him" as his father and Kimberly Novy were married on Nov. 30, 1989.

One of the witnesses to the wedding had to calm James and when he was down, he would say "Take me daddy, take me," said Pam Bequette, the court clerk who assisted at the wedding.

A former neighbor of the Novys, Keith Novy's mother, told how James had to crawl to the home's front door after he had fallen while walking with Keith Novy.

Another time, James was plopped into a wheelchair and left sitting on the front porch while wearing a cast for a broken right leg.

According to Kim Novy's statement to hospital workers, the child broke his leg when he fell from his bed and caught his foot under the mattress, testimony showed.

Another neighbor, Joseph John of Shiloh, testified that on July 4, 1989, he saw the young victim James on the front porch with a suitcase and said, "Get going," leaving the boy there for about a half hour.

BOMB THREAT: Granite City police block off Nameoki Road for an hour and a half Thursday morning as three men from the 50th Explosive Ordnance Detachment search for a reported bomb at the U.S. Army recruiting station. The threat, received by telephone, proved to be unfounded.

Call on phone prompts search, diverts traffic

GRANITE CITY — A recruiting sergeant at the U.S. Army recruiting office at 3675 Nameoki Road reported a bomb threat to Granite City police on Thursday.

The threat, which proved to be unfounded, was received at the recruiting office on an answering machine at 8:30 a.m.

The messages stated the caller was Saddam Hussein (ruler of Iraq). War had begun Wednesday evening between Iraq and United Nations forces led by United States.

The caller said he hated the Army, and that a bomb had been placed in a car at the recruiting station.

An Army officer asked that the car be checked at which time the 50th Explosive Ordnance Detachment was called in from the U.S. Army's Melvin Price Support Center,

Reeder was charged with resisting arrest and battery, and also was booked on a 1990 felony warrant for theft of more than $10,000, according to an incident at Arnette Pattern Co., 1801 Cleveland Blvd.

Reeder was charged Thursday with burglarizing the Meridian residence, officials said.

Reeder was charged Thursday with burglarizing the Meridian residence, officials said.

Granite City, according to Dan O'Boyle of the Army's Public Affairs office.

Granite City police officers responded to traffic on Nameoki Road, between Lindell Boulevard and Garfield Avenue, for an hour and a half.

Additional officers were evened up with three members of the detachment who checked the autos, with negative results.

Assistant Police Chief Ron Seip characterized the incident as a prank.

"We get these calls once in a while... It was really no big deal," Seip said.

Police said the caller was young man in his late teens or early 20s and another voice could be heard in the background.

O'Boyle said the matter was still under investigation.

Costello supports bridge plan

By Valerie Ewenden
Staff Writer

VENICE — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello firmly supports plans for improvements to the McKinley Bridge, he informed Mayor Tyrone Echols by telephone and referred him to members of the City Council.

The congressman called the mayor after a news item appeared in the Jan. 9 edition of the Granite City Press-Record. Journal reported critical remarks made by aldermen during a council meeting.

Some council members were unhappy with an editorial story reported Costello was talking in favor of proposed construction of a new bridge between the McKinley Bridge and King Bridge in Venice.

"I am writing to restate my commitment to improvements for the McKinley Bridge," the congressman said.

Echols responded that his support for other transportation projects in the area does not diminish my recognition of the importance of the McKinley Bridge to our metropolitan highway system.

"I have contacted the administrator of the Federal Highway Administration and the State Department of Transportation to inquire if any grant or loan programs are available to underwrite the necessary repair work to the bridge," he said.

"That's it. Could be the ball is rolling," Echols said at the Jan. 16 council session.

Echols had assured the aldermen at the Jan. 2 meeting that Council would be aware of the community's concern for the city-owned bridge.

His assurance, failed to stem the concerns by council members who were concerned about loss of jobs and reduced revenue from the McKinley Bridge since a new span was erected nearby.

Echols had called for a state or federal loan that would allow the city to retire the bonds held by investors and permit refinancing, retaining and straightening out the bridge's eastern approach to the bridge.

County number 1 in state in increase in AIDS cases

By Joe Carroll
Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD — The number of AIDS cases in Madison County rose by 64 percent in 1990, the largest percentage increase in Illinois, according to new state figures.

Statewide, there was a 35 percent increase in the number of AIDS cases reported last year, Illinois Department of Public Health figures showed.

AIDS is the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

"One person dies and we get two more new ones," Sandy Stokka, AIDS program manager with the Madison County AIDS Program, said. There were 16 new AIDS cases reported in the county last year, up from a total number of cases to date of 41.

Of those 41, 22 have died and several more have moved away, Stokka said.

There is no record of what happened to those patients who moved out of the area, she said. "We average a little more than one death a month," Stokka said.

There were 19 new AIDS cases — a 48 percent increase — reported in St. Clair County last year. No cases have been reported in Monroe County.

Most of the victims were sick testing, counseling, support groups or other services from the Madison County program are available to the community, Stokka said. Most live in urban areas though a growing number come from scattered small town and rural areas, she said.

The Madison County program, operated out of the offices of Coordinated Youth Services in Granite City, tests between 20 and 30 people weekly for the AIDS virus, she said.

Efforts at educating the public about the disease have met with some success, Stokka said: "A presentation we gave at Edwardsville Junior High got a real good response," she said.

He is to be sentenced by St. Clair Chief Criminal Judge Jim Reeder at Scott Novy's wife's trial is completed.

At the start of the trial, defense attorney Brian Trentman unsuccessfully tried to exclude confessions made by Kim Novy. Trentman alleged there is a personality disorder.

Trentman argued that since Novy suffered from an illness that made her withdraw to her husband's, and most recent, demands, her confession to police was coerced.

The attorney is also expected to call Dr. John J. Schell, a physician Novy was completely dependent on, Keith Novy and that she could not tear herself away from abuse of the children. Trentman alleged she had suffered physical abuse of her as well.

Assistant State's Attorney Dennis Hatch contends that Kim Novy should at least be held accountable for her son's death.

One large bruise under James' scalp probably was caused by grabbing his hair and pulling hair and "joltingly lifting him up."

James Novy, who at a year old underwent emergency surgery to correct a congenital heart defect, was described as a "frail, pale, sickly looking child" by pre-school workers and by courthouse employees who saw the child the day Keith and Kim Novy were married.

"He was a very withdrawn child who had very little language skills," said Mary Lu Arribarria-Haus, a special education pre-school teacher who taught James at Belle Valley North in 1988.

"He grunted a lot and pointed to things, and he was noticeable because he was so withdrawn."

"He was a very frail little boy."

Frequently, the boy would come to school in a soiled diaper and would "stick whole cookies in his mouth at time" during snacktime, she said.

James Novy was removed from the school April 4, 1989, a day after Arthur Reeder, a police officer and school official noticed welt marks on the boy's buttocks and reported the suspected abuse to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Employed at the St. Clair County courthouse, Reeder testified James "didn't know what was going on around him" as his father and Kim Novy, Novy were married on June 30, 1989.

One of the witnesses to the wedding had to carry James and when he was let down, he said, "Take him outside and run," said Paul Bequette, the court clerk who assisted at the wedding.

A former neighbor of the Novys, Cynthia Guthrie of O'Fallon, told police James Novy crawled to the home's front door after he had fallen while walking with Keith and Kim Novy.

Another time, James was playing in a wheelchair and left sitting on the front porch while wearing a cast for a broken right leg.

According to Kim Novy's陈述, the child broke his leg when he allegedly fell from his bunk bed and caught his foot under the mattress. Novy, they said, had been in possession of the goods.

BOMB THREAT: Granite City police block off Nameoki Road for an hour and a half Thursday morning as three men from the 50th Explosive Ordnance Detachment search for a reported bomb at the U.S. Army recruiting station. The threat, received by telephone, proved to be unfounded.

Call on phone prompts search, diverts traffic

GRANITE CITY — A recruiting sergeant at the U.S. Army recruiting office at 3675 Nameoki Road received a bomb threat to Granite City police on Thursday.

The threat, which proved to be unfounded, was received at the recruiting office on an answering machine.

The message stated the caller was Saddam Hussein (ruler of Iraq). War had begun Wednesday evening between Iraq and United Nations forces led by the United States.

The caller said he hated the Army, and that a bomb had been placed in a car at the recruiting station.

An Army officer asked that the telephone be checked, at which time the 50th Explosive Ordnance Detachment was called in from the U.S. Army's Melvin Price Support Center, Granite City, according to Dan O'Boyle of the Army's Public Affairs office. Granite City police officers re-routed traffic on Nameoki Road, between Lindell Boulevard and Garfield Avenue, for an hour and a half.

Armed officers were evicted while three members of the detachment checked the auto, with negative results.

Assistant Police Chief Ron Seipel characterized the incident as "a false alarm."

"We get these calls once in a while. It was really no big deal," Seipel said.

Police said the caller was a young man in his late teens or early 20s, and another voice could be heard in the background.

O'Boyle said the matter was still under investigation.

custody at a Quik Trip convenience store in Madison. The suspect fit the description of the Wanamaker man.

The officer en route to Madison, alleged seeing Reeder strike the detective on the chest with a fist, and attempting to flee.

The officer left his car and assisted the police detective in subduing Reeder, who was then transported to the Granite City police station, and placed in a cell.

Reeder was charged with resisting arrest and battery, and also was booked on a 1990 felony warrant for theft of more than $10,000 value, related to an incident at Arnold Patter Co., 1801 Cleveland Blvd.

Costello supports bridge plan

By Valerie Eviden
Staff writer

VENICE — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello firmly supports plans for improvements to the McKinley Bridge, the informant of the Tykes Echo by telephone and reiterated in a letter to members of the City Council.

The congressman called the mayor after news items appeared in the Jan. 9 edition of the Granite City Press-Record/Journal reporting critical remarks made by aldermen during a council meeting.

Some council members were miffed because an earlier news story reported Costello was talking in favor of proposed construction of a new bridge between the McKinley Bridge and King Bridge into St. Louis.

"I am writing to restate my commitment to improvements for the McKinley Bridge," the congressman said.

"Please understand that my support for other transportation projects in the area does not diminish my recognition of the importance of the McKinley bridge to our metropolitan highway system."

"I have contacted the administrator of the Federal Highway Administration and the State Department of Transportation to inquire if any grant or loan programs are available to undertake the necessary repair work to the bridge."

"... Could be the ball is rolling," Echols said at the Jan. 16 council session.

Echols had assured the aldermen at the Jan. 2 meeting that Costello was aware of the community's concern for the city-owned bridge.

His assurance failed to stem the comments by council members who were concerned about lack of jobs and reduced revenue from the McKinley Bridge should a new span be erected nearby.

Drug seminar set for clergy

"Is There an Elephant in My Sanctuary?" — a six-hour substance abuse workshop for clergy and church leaders — will be presented by Piasa Health Care and InTouch on Jan. 26 at the Conference Center on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The workshop begins at 9 a.m. and ends by 2 p.m. with an option to those who stay until 4 p.m. to receive certificates of completion.

The cost is $15, which includes lunch and refreshments.

The workshop is being funded in part by the Department of Alcohol and Substance Abuse and the Madison County 708 Board and is intended to assist churches in dealing with the problem of alcohol and other drug abuse in their communities.

The training is open to any individual in a leadership role in the church, such as youth directors, counselors, council or board members or religious education instructors, but space is limited.

The Rev. J.A. Calaway, author and director of Excel Inc., will be featured as the luncheon speaker.

Excel Inc. was founded by Calaway out of personal tragedy involving his 19-year-old son, Conner, who died of drugs, alcohol and the law, leading to a long prison sentence.

Other speakers include the Rev. Joe Scheetz from Chester, the Rev. Joseph Hansmann from Edwardsville, Jane Calaway from Alton, and Jim Dederer from East Alton.

SPRINGFIELD — The number of AIDS cases in Madison County rose by 84 percent in 1990, the largest percentage increase in Illinois, according to recent state figures.

Statewide, there was a 35 percent increase in the number of AIDS cases reported last year, Illinois Department of Public Health figures showed.

AIDS is the acronym Immuno Deficiency Syndrome.

"One person dies and we get two more new ones," Sandy Stokka, a case manager with the Madison County AIDS Program said. There were 11 new AIDS cases reported in the county last year, bringing the total number of cases to date to 41.

Of those 41, 22 have died and several more have moved away, Stokka said.

There is no record of what happened to those patients who moved out of the area, she said. "We average a little more than one death a month," Stokka said.

There were 19 new AIDS cases — a 48 percent increase — reported in St. Clair County last year, cases have been reported in Monroe County.

Most of the patients who seek testing, counseling, support groups or other services from the Madison County program are white males in their early 30s, Stokka said. Most live in urban areas, though a growing number come from scattered small towns around the county.

The Madison County program operated out of the offices of Coordinated Youth Services in Granite City, tests between 20 and 30 people weekly for the AIDS virus, Stokka said.

Efforts at educating the public about the disease have met with some success, Stokka said. "A presentation we gave at Edwardsville Junior High got a real good response," she said.

•Caster

nine-year, $1.8 billion capital improvement plan," Hagiwara said.

"...But we don't intend to stop with that (plan). We plan to continue to spend $200 million a year on capital improvements. A willingness to invest in the future is a major part of our goal to be America's top steelmaker."

Doerr said the new caster cuts energy costs by about 5 percent and improves quality by 10 to 12 percent. He said it is capable of handling every product line National Steel now offers.

The caster should be able to handle everything the steel market throws at it throughout this decade, Doerr said, and it will remain useful well into the next century.

But, Doerr stressed, while the company can buy state-of-the-art equipment, it was actually the workers who made it possible for the company itself to be state-of-the-art.

Jim Squires started on the floor at Granite City Steel in 1956, advancing to director of ironmaking and steelmaking at National's Granite City Division.

He said Thursday it gives him a particular thrill to see that the men he worked alongside in the labor pool are now operating computers.

Squires said the worker retraining program for the new caster took place mostly on-site. He said the retraining went better than anyone ever thought possible.

"I can't over-emphasize the human side," he said. "Both the hourly and salaried employees showed a real willingness to do whatever was asked of them."

He added, "National Steel's relationship with labor is eight years ahead of the rest of the industry" and said Buddy Davis, District 34 director of the United Steelworkers of America, was largely responsible for that.

Davis said the $140-million investment in the new caster was important to the workers.

"A company that is not willing to put money back into the company is not going to succeed. Research and development are extremely important to the survival of a company," Davis said.

"(National Steel) is at the pinnacle of the entire steel industry when it comes to employment security. There will be people adjusted, but we will not lose jobs."

Davis said National Steel reduced another 10 percent, hourly level, recently when office and clerical workers voted 87 to 55 to join the steelworkers union.

"This is the first company in the nation where all the employees are members," Davis said.

Kemp Beall, general manager of the Granite City Division, said the opening of the new caster was a case of the company "putting its money where its mouth is" and is a strong statement concerning the future of operations in Granite City.

The company and its predecessors have been part of the community for better than 100 years," Beall said. "That should continue, at least 100 years more."

City election filing deadlines vary

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois State Election Board has issued a clarification on the dates for city and village candidate filing for the April 2 election. The clarification was necessary because of the observance in some communities Monday of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday.

The board said that the filing period will end at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 22, only if the governmental body's offices will be closed Monday, Jan. 21, in observance of King's birthday.

At offices that remain open Jan. 21, the filing period will end at 5 p.m. that day.

Granite City offices will be open on Monday while Madison and Venice offices will be closed. Pontoon Beach officials also have decided to close offices Monday. Village Clerk Mary Warren said filings will be accepted from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday.

• Sewage

But a review of the map showed there is no combination line on the east side of Nauvoo Road. The line is strictly for stormwater.

"This city has had sewer problems for years," Warfield said. "You have no way to know if situations have to deal with."

Warfield then said that a line "may be a stormwater line, but I wasn't aware of it."

Upon visiting the site, Warfield found that the sewage was being pumped into the stormwater system.

"I don't know why this is such a deal," Warfield said. "We have had to do this hundreds of times. It is either put that (sewage) into the stormwater system or flood people's basements."

"Why don't you ask (Harrison) what he would do?" Warfield said.

Harrison said the city could have run the hose across St. Clair Avenue, a shorter distance, and put the sewage back into the sewer system, thereby neither flooding basements nor polluting the Rock Creek, which eventually runs to Horseshoe Lake.

Aggravating the problem, according to Warfield, is the fact that someone stole the brass fixtures used to connect sections of hose. He said he had to order new hose and lay the line again.

Hanke confirmed the call from the EPA.

More details of that incident will appear in Wednesday's Journal.

In a related incident, a pump malfunctioned Thursday morning, and Warfield said it was caused in part by the Insteoflom installation process by which sewers are being repaired.

The cost of the repair necessitated the dumping of raw sewage into St. Clair Avenue and into the stormwater basin. But a call from the Environmental Protection Agency's Public Works Director, Bill Blakely, to the office, warning of a possible $10,000 per day fine, prompted a call to the pumping, Warfield said.

Hanke confirmed the call from the EPA.

More details of that incident will appear in Wednesday's Journal.

"When I of my goals," he said. "Almost students in the program. Some them are going to expect from me. I think approach to finding a solution in pursuing our goals is the right way to go."

"Although as a person do environmental requirements," Mueller said. "The major requirements in inaccurate job requires. Many don't hours of their time to the ones that really themselves said.

"Debbie clinical education couple have large families now. They have moved our personal life to the point that they can't do what they want to do."

"After a year in the program, they leave. Many don't hours of their time to the ones that really themselves said.

Grapplers win again; blasting Wood River, 44-17

By Brian Henry
Journal correspondent

WOOD RIVER — The Warriors ran their record to 12-1 by blasting Wood River 44-17 in a dual meet on Wednesday.

The meet served as a tuneup of sorts for meets against Parkway West on Friday and a quad meet with Alton, Triad and Jacksonville on Saturday.

"We've got some important matches coming up this weekend," said Granite City coach Mike Garland. "We barely beat Parkway last year, and Collinsville is always tough."

Pat Scheffer (103 pounds) began the evening with a pinning over Paul Crotter in 1 minute, 52 seconds. The Oilers' Chad Crouch (112) won a 12-4 decision against Chris Hass of the Warriors.

Wood River's Michael Johnson (120) dropped Solomon Onrai in 1:22 to get the Warriors rolling. Chris Hoffstot (135) followed with a 12-4 decision against Christopher and Jeremy Heubschman (140), while Eugene Davenport, 15-4, leading 23-9, Jeff Heubschman (146) outlasted Mike Gerber, 17-11, for a 26-9 advantage.

Wood River's Matt (120) stopped Scott Simon in 1:22 to get the Warriors rolling. Chris Hoffstot (135) followed with a 12-4 decision against Christopher and Jeremy Heubschman (140), while Eugene Davenport, 15-4, leading 23-9, Jeff Heubschman (146) outlasted Mike Gerber, 17-11, for a 26-9 advantage.

Wood River's Matt (120) finally stopped the run with a technical fall (16-1) against Scott Simon, and Jason Voth (160) beat Rusty Buchek, 8-3, to draw Wood River within nine points of the lead.

But the Warriors silenced any thoughts of a comeback by winning the final three matches.

Alex Achards (171) pinned Jeremy Daniels at 2:41 and Mark Crotter (189) registered the quickest pin of the meet by hammering Eugene Hartman in 30 seconds. Heavyweight Al Willa-

"We wrestled good tonight, and I was pleased with the effort," Garland said. "We can't look ahead, and we just have to take things one at a time."

Trojans finally gain respect

By Mike Blackshire
Journal correspondent

BELLEVILLE — Even though his team is talented and entered the Belleville East tournament with an 8-2 record, Madison head coach Al Collins has an interesting problem.

He doesn't think his opponents have a lot of respect for his squad, primarily because of their inconsistent play.

He might be right, but after the Trojans (12-2) defeated Belleville West 82-57 on Thursday night, it appeared that Madison is finally fulfilling its potential.

Following an outstanding effort against Belleville West in the opening round of the tournament on Tuesday, the Trojans came back with one of their best performances of the season. That effort vaulted Madison into Saturday's championship game.

"I'm very proud of the way we played tonight," Collins said. "This is probably our most consistent game of the year."

The Trojans always play great for a quarter or two each game, but they also tend to disappear for a period of time. That certainly wasn't the case on Thursday. In their worst offensively and defensively, the third, the Trojans were outstanding in both departments.

Add Belleville West coach Bill Schmidt to the list of those who are rapidly gaining respect for Madison.

"They are better athletes than we are," Schmidt said. "You see that with the fact they didn't play very well tonight, and you've got the ingredients for a rout. I'm disappointed that we didn't play better, maybe that is part of the reason."

The Trojans came out strong in the opening period. They spread the scoring around, a trend that continued all night. The game, at 10 different places, inked their John Henry on the score sheet. With very good ball movement on offense, and an aggressive zone defense, the Trojans won the game 18-9 after the first quarter.

For the second game in a row, Madison won the battle of the boards, outrebounding the Maroons 36-31 and were led by senior Antonio Smith, who pulled down 13 rebounds — many of them on the offensive end.

Both teams had trouble shooting in the second quarter, particularly the Trojans, who were 0-for-10.

The Trojans scored the final four points of the half on free throw line as both Ron Lott and Willis Woodson hit a pair of shots from the charity stripe. Interestingly, all five Trojans who went to the free throw line shot 100 percent, making all scored from all over the floor. Belleville West (5-9) was largely limited to outside jump shots, only scoring one basket inside during the first half.

"We've been waiting for that all year," Collins said of his team's first win. "We lost again to East Side, but had a let down in the last five minutes. We have to get that killer instinct back."

"We really don't get a lot of respect. But we've got the talent (to win) if we come together."

Trailing 40-22 as the third quarter began, the Maroons closed the gap only slightly, ending the game as they scored the first seven points in the period. Three different times, Belleville West narrowed its deficit down to 11 points. But the Maroons couldn't

"We came out lackadaisical," Schmidt said. "We couldn't get anything going offensively."

"At one point (in the third quarter) we were only down by 10. But (Madison) turned it up another level and that was it."

Venice survives slow start

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

SPARTA — The Red Devils shook off a dismal first half showing and buried Coulterville 79-45 on Friday at the 27th Annual Sparta Invitational.

However, the victory was anything but easy. Facing a determined opponent, Venice (14-3) actually found itself losing the game late in the second quarter. Trailing 22-17 with 5:04 to play in the first half, Coulterville (7-11) went on a 10-3 run to take a two-point lead.

A fourth-quarter play by Rusty Gifford, who had six points during the outburst, ignited the assault.

"Our success depended on the double-high offense," said Coulterville's assistant coach Larry Harper. "It gave us a chance to set up our attack, while getting the ball to the open man on the move. We had to bring in a few times for the easy basket."

"That offense allowed us to play a stationary game. It limited Venice's speed in the open court."

But point guard Reno Mosby finally took matters into his own hands and silenced any hopes for an upset. Applying pressure with their full-court press, the Red Devils quickly turned the tables with a 10-4 run of their own. Mosby backboned the attack as six points and three steals as Venice went into the locker room holding a slim four-point lead.

"We took Coulterville too lightly," Mosby said. "We didn't put any pressure on the ball for the entire first half. Instead,

Julia Roberts becomes area's top movie draw

"Who was the top box-office draw at the movies in St. Louis in 1990? Executives of AMC and Wehrenberg, the area's two principal chains, agree it was Julia Roberts," whose films "Pretty Woman," "Steel Magnolias" and "Steel Magnolias" grossed more than $278.3 million nationally.

Harry Hamm

Other performers on the local executives' list of top box-office film personalities in 1990, and the ones that put them there, are: 2) Patrick Swayze ("Ghost"); 3) Richard Gere ("Pretty Woman" and "Internal Affairs"); 4) Tom Cruise, "Born on the Fourth of July"; and "Days of Thunder"; 5) the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles for the film bearing their name; 6) Sean Connery, "The Hunt for Red October"; 7) Arnold Schwarzenegger, "Total Recall"; 8) Bruce Willis, "Die Hard"; 9) Michael J. Fox, "Back to the Future III," which was released late in 1989, but still did good carry-over business in 1990.

"Home Alone" still setting pace

"Home Alone," the 20th Century Fox hit that has taken in $184.4 million since opening in November, last week joined "Tootsie" (1982) and "Beverly Hills Cop" (1984) as the only films ever to have the top spot at the box office for nine consecutive weeks.

Based on the reception it is getting, "Home Alone," a comedy about a 10-year-old who fends off two burglars, seems assured of a place on the list of the Top 10 all-time hits.

However, "Home Alone" last week slipped to No. 2 at the box office in St. Louis, being bumped out of first by "Awakenings," a drama featuring Robert De Niro and Robin Williams.

Conversely, "The Godfather Part III," a Paramount film that was expected to be a major hit, soured last week when its box-office take nationally dropped a whopping 48 percent from the previous week.

4 walk from car-train crash

GRANITE CITY — Four people, including three young children, were injured when a car crossing the railroad tracks at West Pontoon and Nameoki roads was struck by a train at 10:30 p.m. Friday.

A witness said a car operated by Marcella F. Papp, 36, of the 2000 block of Bryan Avenue, went around the lowered crosswalk sign and was struck by a Union Pacific Railroad freight train engine.

The impact forced Papp's car off the north side of the crossing road and threw the driver and one of the passengers, Tony D. Sims, 11, of the 2700 block of Bryan.

The impact forced Papp's car off the north side of the crossing road and threw the driver and one of the passengers, Tony D. Sims, 11, of the 2700 block of Bryan.

According to the police report, Papp said that when she reached the third set of tracks she saw a West 22nd Street, outside the driver's door, police said.

Papp, Sims and the two other passengers, Stephen K. Snyder, 12, of the 700 block of Old Rock Road, and John W. King, 14, of the 2000 block of Bryan Avenue, all sustained injuries.

All four suffered minor cuts, abrasions and swelling, but were able to walk to the Granite City Emergency Room, an ambulance was called. They were taken to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where all were treated and released.

According to the police report, Papp said that when she reached the third set of tracks she saw a train approaching from the south and attempted to put her car in reverse, but the car engine died.

Papp was charged with disobeying a railroad signal crossing gate.

Engineer Donald E. Reasor, 48, of Tuscola, Ill., reported applying the brakes, but the engine still struck the car, which was on the tracks.

The train engine was equipped with a cow catcher, which was apparently cracked during the accident, and was pulling about 130 cars, reports said.

Washington Park woman guilty

By David Migoya
Staff Writer

BELLEVILLE — A Washington Park mother of five was found guilty but mentally ill Tuesday after beating her 4-month-old daughter to death after the child was born in battle scars.

The child, Denice Smith, had burns covering 50 percent of her body, 13 bruises inside her skull and several cigarette burns on her body, police said.

Two years earlier, three of Mattie Smith's children were taken into custody by workers with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services because she neglected them.

The other children, Arlene Smith and Denice Smith, suffered various other injuries.

Because psychologists who examined Mattie Smith, 23, of the 3900 block of St. Clair Avenue, said she suffered from cocaine and alcohol addiction as well as mild mental retardation, St. Clair County Circuit Judge Michael O'Malley accepted the plea.

Police said Smith, who is addicted to crack cocaine, had been smoking the drug at the time of the beating.

In exchange for the guilty plea, prosecutors will recommend a 26-1/2-year prison term. Smith still could face up to 60 years in prison on the charge.

Smith's trial murder trial was to begin Monday, scalded, her daughter in bath water on March 18 and beat the child on the head when the tot wouldn't stop crying, prosecutors said.

Assistant State's Attorney Len Cleary said Maggie Smith called an ambulance 16 hours after the child was born because she was afraid DCFS caseworkers would remove her other child, 2-year-old Delain Smith.

Truckers' fame nominees sought

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — The Route 66 Association of Illinois is seeking nominees for induction into its Route 66 Hall of Fame at the Dixie Truckers Home in McLean.

"We want to commemorate the people who helped give Route 66 such unique character — its builders, its travelers, its merchants and its dreamers," said Tom Teague, association president. "Inductees replaced Route 66, we almost let it slip away. But the highway expressed and embodied the character of the country too wonderfully well for that to happen. So now we're celebrating."

The Route 66 Association is a not-for-profit group dedicated to preserving, promoting and enjoying the former Main Street of America. Teague said it chose Dixie Truckers Home as the Hall of Fame home because it is one of Route 66's original truck stops. It is also a family-owned business.

The Hall features a plaque commemorating its members, plus a wide assortment of other exhibits and displays. It is open year around and admission is free. About 30,000 people have visited the Hall since it opened in June 1990.

Induction ceremonies will be held June 8 in conjunction with the association's second annual Route 66 motor tour from Chicago to St. Louis. Members inducted last year include Captain Eddie, Captain Eddie's Garage, John Geske and J.W. Peltier of Bloomington, Ernie Edwards of Broadwell, Franchi Marten of Raymond and Russell Soubly, of Marion.

Information on how to nominate candidates to the Hall of Fame can be obtained by writing to Tom Teague, Route 66 Association of Illinois, 1208 W. Edwards St., Springfield, Ill., 62704, or by calling him at 217-787-8839.
